

Workshop 'People in Science' for PhD candidates

Did you know over 90% of all PhDs eventually have to find a job outside academia?

Prepare yourself for alternative career paths with the PhD-Career Event on September 27th.

Dr. Geertje Janssen ('People in Science' advisors) will provide an interactive afternoon to help you kick-start your career after your PhD. She will talk about career options outside academia, the value of your PhD and how to increase your employability.

Receive tips and develop new skills in practical assignments. All insights are validated by current recruitment procedures and job market trends.

The event starts at 12:30 with a lunch and ends at 17:00 with drinks. There will be plenty room for questions. We will ask you to make a CV before the start of the workshop, and to take a hard copy with you to the workshop.

There are 20 places available, so secure your place and register a.s.a.p. We look forward to seeing you!

Time	Activity
12:30 – 13:00	Lunch
13:00 – 13:10	Welcome / Intro / Out-line / Goals
13:10 – 13:45	Talk: Managing your employability What can you do today to be valued as "high-potential" or "top talent" and ensure plenty career possibilities?
13:45 – 14:00	Group assignment with CVs: Avoid Data Dump
14:00 – 14:30	Introduction to Practical Part
14:30 – 14:45	Break
14:45 - 16:30	Practical Assignment: Identify and promote your expertise Practical Assignment in groups: Communicating your skills and competences
16:30 – 16.50	Short introduction of the experiences by two 'champions' who stepped over to a a job outside academia
16:50 – 17:00	Closing / Take home messages

17:00 - ...

Borrel

Costs for non-MM members: €100,-

0,15 ECTS